BRITISH AND EASTERN CAPITAL COMES TO CITY

Two Millions Invested in Real Estate During the Past Two Months—Prospects for New Year are Excellent

A total of very close to $2,000,000 worth of real estate in the city of Edmonton and suburbs has changed hands within the past few months, according to estimates which have been made to the Capital by prominent real estate men.

This sum is an approximate estimate of the business in real estate that has been done by prominent firms in what has been the healthiest and heaviest real estate movement that Edmonton has experienced in its history. The movement cannot be considered to be in the nature of a boom, in fact, there has been no kind of a boom in any quarter of the city or suburbs that would be responsible for the extraordinary amount of real estate business that has been transacted.

This is entirely due to a very healthy period in the city's progress, and to an in pouring of English, American and Eastern Canadian capital for investment that has never before been experienced. Edmonton has during the past year come very prominently before the investing public as a rapidly growing metropolis with increasingly good prospects for profitable investment. English and American capitalists during the past summer have looked the city over and weighed its opportunities carefully. Result, the extremely brisk movement in real estate during the past month or two.

Investments which are included in the above amount, have been made almost entirely by capitalists and other interests who will prove to be permanent operators in Edmonton. Banks, financial institutions, railway companies, big merchants have been among the purchasers of business property, and not only have they invested largely, but they will follow up their investments with the erection of substantial buildings.

Capital Pouring In

Very quietly, since the stir of November, a very large amount of English and American capital has been invested in city property. Some of these deals have been pending for some months, and are only now being concluded. British capital in thousands and millions is being sent to Edmonton to be invested. An estimate of British and American capital invested in real estate in Edmonton during the past two months would be over one million mark.

INQUEST MAY BE FINISHED FRIDAY

Jury Investigating Bellevue Disaster Considering Large Mass of Evidence

Bellevue, Alta., Jan. 5.—The inquest into the mine disaster has now occupied a entire day, and will probably last two more days. Some important evidence has been brought about as regards the condition of the mine before the explosion.

Dr. Malcolmson gave evidence this morning regarding the appearance of the bodies of the dead miners, giving his opinion that they had died from carbon monoxide gas poisoning, and held to this through a searching cross-examination by Mackie, on behalf of the miners. Mackie read medical testimony to the effect that the only true test of carbon monoxide poisoning was by analysis of the blood.

Also, the night watchman of the mines, who had assisted in washing the bodies of some of the miners, stated that the face and hands of two of them were burned, and that he had found tobacco and a pipe and matches in the pocket of one of them, and matches in that of another.

Mackie asked that the company be required to produce these articles.

Woods, K.C., for the company, protested that Mackie who was present by courtesy, had no right to make a request of that nature. Mackie pointed out to Woods that under the act drafted by Woods himself, for the protection, he was present under authority of law. He insisted upon the production, and an order was given.

"At the afternoon session," said a miner, "we have evidence to the discovery of the bodies in the mines, and their positions. Levitt said he had come out of the mine between three and four o'clock that day, he had not remembered making a test

ASK OTHER CITIES FOR INFORMATION

City Council Will Not Take Up Gas Company's Proposition for Several Weeks

Information as to the experience of the larger Canadian and American cities in the granting of gas franchises, the terms upon which such franchises has been given, and fullest information in regard to the whole question of the municipal gas supply, will be obtained by the commissioners before the new proposition of the International Heating and Lighting company is considered.

"It would be unwise to call a special meeting of the council to discuss this question," said Mayor Armstrong this morning, "until we have the fullest line of information at our disposal. When the proposition of the company is brought before us by Mr. Eaton, we must be in a position either to turn it down if it is not a satisfactory one, or to determine that we shall enter into negotiations with them."

British Capitalists Have Invested Over $250,000

Through One Real Estate Broker, in Edmonton District, During the Past Two Months—Lloyd George Budget Benefits Canada.

As one indication of the manner in which British capital in large amounts is pouring into the Edmonton district for investment, it was stated to the Capital yesterday by one prominent firm in the city, that they had placed more than a quarter million of British money, in mortgages in the Edmonton district alone within the past four months.

Inclement weather has interfered but little with the progress of the work. The advent of more congenial conditions has, however, given a fillip to the construction, and the end of this week will mark the completion of several important stages in the pier construction.

DREDGE BRINGS UP BONES FROM MAINE

Raising of United States Battleship May Eliminate Dispute Over Explosion

Havana, Jan. 5.—The first human remains from the wreck of the old battleship Maine were brought to the surface today, by a dredge. They consisted of two ribs and some small bones, apparently the bones of a hand. They were carefully placed in a special receptacle to await the recovery of other parts.

The dredge also brought up some 4-inch shells, a large quantity of coal, and a portion of the coal bunkers. There were lying apart from the ship, which is considered as possible confirmatory of the theory of an explosion under the bunkers. This, however, cannot be verified without a further examination of the wreck. The work on the hulk is going on without interruption.

SHACKLETON ON ANOTHER TRIP

This Time He Will Go to Spitzbergen—Excellent Place for Sanitarium

London, Jan. 4.—Sir Ernest Henry Shackleton is planning an expedition to Spitzbergen which he thinks will be an excellent place for a sanitarium for consumptives.

"The climate is ideal," he says, "and the atmosphere pure and germ free like that of the antarctic. If people would make up their minds to stay there three or four months they would be benefited wonderfully."

Sir Ernest Shackleton expects to be able to start for Spitzbergen in May.

He purposes to spend two and a half or three months in the islands of the Spitzbergen group. His party will probably consist of including Sir John Murray, the biologist, and other members of the Nimrod expedition. The Nimrod herself will not go to Spitzbergen, but a considerable portion of the equipment of the expedition toward the south pole will be used.

The interior of Spitzbergen is very little known, and probably affords an excellent ground for biological and geological research.

Sir Ernest still has an eye on the antarctic and hopes before two years are over that a great British expedition will circumnavigate that region. After his return from Spitzbergen he will probably proceed with his plans for an antarctic expedition of this character.

If Capt. Robert Scott succeeds in planting the British flag at the south pole, Melbourne will probably be his base.

If possible he will have two ships and a party of fifty men. He proposes to have three parties of nine men each to Cape Adair, in Sabine Land, and in Enderby Land. These would form separate units, and each would have stores complete for a year.

They would work inland over the great ice cap.

The ships in the meantime would make their way around the continent and would pick up the three parties at the end of a year or so as necessary two years.

Land parties, in Sir Ernest's opinion, may expect to obtain important scientific results since traces of tin and other minerals have already been discovered.

The expedition will probably be away from England two and perhaps three years.

MORGAN TO FORCE CONSTRUCTION OF GREAT WATERWAYS

New York Financier Will Fight Any Attempt of Province to Use A. & G.W.

Funds for Other Purposes Than Those for Which Money Was Raised

In Province's Action to Secure Waterways Funds—Will File Defense Next Week

Up to 1 o'clock today, two appearances had been filed by two of the three banks named in the action brought against them by the provincial government for the securing of the waterways bond money. These were on behalf of the Royal bank, which holds $6,000,000 of the money and the Dominion bank, which holds $6,000,000 of the money and the Douglas bank, which holds $100,000 of the money.

The appearance on behalf of the Royal bank was filed by Dawson, Hyndman and Hyndman, and on behalf of the Dominion bank by J. E. Wallbridge. The Union bank have not yet filed, apparently, but owing to the fact that the holiday season in the courts does not close until this evening, one more day is given for this bank to file an appearance. The appearance will be filed either this afternoon or tomorrow.

All three banks will defend in the action within the next five days. The actions will be carried through to the privy council, of that there is no doubt. They will be tried first in the supreme court of Alberta, and following judgment, it is very probable that an application will be made by the banks to have the actions carried directly through to the privy council without trial in the supreme court of Canada.

PAPERS CENSURE HOME SECRETARY

Consensus of Opinion Is That Military Should Not Have Been Called Out

London, Jan. 4.—After a day's reflection, the sober thought of London appears to be that the marshalling of a great force of police and militia to destroy a little nest of outlaws, was a grave mistake. The authorities are being severely criticized by some of the papers, and the Manchester Despatch says that the Englishman have been made to appear ridiculous. The impression is that the police should have dealt with the matter without calling the militia.

The ships in the meantime would make their way around the continent and would pick up the three parties at the end of a year or so as necessary two years.

Land parties, in Sir Ernest's opinion, may expect to obtain important scientific results since traces of tin and other minerals have already been discovered.

The expedition will probably be away from England two and perhaps three years.

The battle ended in the ghastly sight of two human beings burned to death before as many of London's thousands as could be gathered on the adjoining rooftops.

The excitement created by the affair is evidenced in the fact that more daily papers were sold during the progress of the incident than on the occasion of the King's death, or during the critical stages of the Boer war.

Winston Churchill, home secretary, who directed the operations of the combined forces, is credited, generally, with having authorized or approved the unusual measures adopted.

From printed descriptions it is believed at police headquarters that three of the men killed by the police yesterday, were wanted in New York for the robbery of a jewelry store in March last.

NEW LINE-UP FOR DEACON'S ESKIMOS

Will Face Strathcona Tonight With Forward Line Changed and Allan in Goal

There is going to be a big change in the line up of the Deacon's Eskimos when they face Strathcona for the third time this season already, but for the first time in a league match. The Deacons are smearing from the two crushing defeats inflicted upon them on Christmas and New Years and are going to work the limit to pull out on the first match that really counts in the provincial championship.

Rus Allan will play goal for the Deacons so that the loss of May will make but little difference in the defense. Bill Bandford will stay at point and Short Campbell at cover. George Bandford will be taken away from centre and put on the right wing. Dan will hold down the opposite ice and Gordon will make the scratch. Mc Gannon will play rover.

The Deacons had a fast work out last night and in the new line up showed bursts of speed that should make the Strathconas' defense look like a collection of school boys at a picnic. Their combination seemed to work out better and Gordon Bandford played in his old form when back on the wing.

It is early in the season yet but if the Deacons can put a crimp in the championship aspirations of the Scons' bunch right at the start it will give them a big lead towards the big trophy.

Pete Burley will referee so that neither team will be able to get away with the off sides in either way they did on Christmas. Scooty McLeod will judge of play, therefore there will be no rough housing it.

The Strathcona club seems to have a winning lineup already so there will be no alterations there.

PICTURES OF DECOTEAU RUNNING IN CALGARY

The first exhibition of the moving pictures of the Herald-Road Race in Calgary on Christmas, won by Decoteau, the Edmonton runner, was given in the Orpheum Theatre yesterday afternoon to a private audience composed of newspaper men and Decoteau himself and others interested.

The pictures, while blurred along one side, caused evidently by faulty development, give four good views of the race. The course was so crowded with automobiles that at times it looked more like an auto race than a foot race.

The pictures show the runners turning from Eighth Avenue down 1st Street west, crossing the Mission Bridge and coming back over the east end bridge and again coming onto Eighth Ave.

When in Rome, Connie Mack was importuned by an art gallery scout to buy some of the old masters. "No old masters in mine," quickly snapped Connie. "I'm looking for young blood."

WINNIPEG FINDS HERSELF AT LAST

Realizes That There Are Western Teams Just as Important in Sporting World

Winnipeg is beginning to realize the feeling in Western Canada sporting circles regarding their position. The following from the Free Press is very much to the point.

"There seems to be a feeling in the country towns and cities in Manitoba that Winnipeg sportsmen want to corner the sporting market. For many years there has always been a bad feeling among outside places and the metropolis of the west in regard to sport, an air should not be so. Just because Winnipeg happens to be the largest city in the west, and naturally provides more sport of every kind, and generally carries off the honors because there are more players to select teams, etc., seems to be the chief reason for the daily knock that is heard from outsiders. At the meeting of Winnipeg Amateur Hockey league held recently, a Brandon man spoke strongly in regard to the feeling in the country against Winnipeg. He said that it was the general impression that the city sportsmen were selfish and wanted everything to themselves, and he went so far as to say that though the country curlers flock to the Winnipeg bonspiel in large numbers, it is seldom that these visits are returned by the city curlers. And now comes a letter from Melita, in which the writer claims that the country curlers are not being given a square deal in regard to the play for the O'Grady challenge cup. Of course, this is not correct. The rules were changed rather for the benefit of the country than the city.

Winnipeg is right. Not only in curling are they considered selfish but also in baseball. When the schedules for the league are being prepared, Winnipeg is always to the front, directing the dates they want and which they demand, because they consider that their games are larger than can be obtained elsewhere, and they control the league in that respect. In other words, they are the big toad in the puddle, and all the other frogs must get to the shore or drown.

The fact of the matter is, however, that the difference in the gate receipts at Winnipeg is not so great as that of the performance fees and several of the performers here bleed freely when Nelson, Diamond and the other bands were unengaged. The stage bands were badly beaten and Nelson announced that he had had enough of exhibition bouts with the Battler.

ATHLETIC RESEARCH SOCIETY

May Break Off With A. A. U.

New York, Jan. 4.—If a resolution adopted by the Athletic Research Society at its annual meeting in this city is concurred in by the athletic bodies represented in the society, friendly relations with the Amateur Athletic Union will be broken off and immediate steps taken toward the organization of an independent federation to exercise the control formerly vested in the union.

The society was organized three years ago for the purpose, more particularly, of developing school athletics and investigating the administrative control of sport. A committee appointed at the last meeting to look into the latter subject reported today through its chairman Dr. George L. Meylan, of Columbia university, recommending that local groups be formed in various sections of the country which would join district associations of the A. A. U.

Objection was made to this affiliation, and the recommendation was voted down. A committee, headed by Prof. Meylan, was appointed to draft a plan for the organization of an independent federation. The following were elected officers of the society for the ensuing year: Dr. C. W. Hetherington, Chicago, president; (re-elected); W. C. Orr, Boston, vice president; J. E. Baycroft, University of Chicago, secretary and treasurer.

Battling Nelson was one of the greatest men that ever stepped into a pair of fighting trunks.

A ring fan, who is of a mathematical turn of mind, has just figured out that Battling Nelson has won 13,380 bouts during the fourteen years he was in the ring. Add to this statement the fact that the Dane is still begging for another crack at Ad Wolgast and you will get a pretty fair idea of Nelson's courage.

The Battler's wonderful endurance, when reduced to cold figures, reads something like this: From 1896 until today Nelson was one of the sturdy principles in 94 hard-fought ring engagements. These 94 bouts equalled a total of 669 rounds.

Bac, never a clever boxer, was always an easy mark for his opponents to hit. It is doing him no injustice to assume that the average number of blows he has stood up under in each round would equal 20. Multiply the total number of rounds by this average of 20 and the answer is that the Dane has received 13,380 jolts, punches and wallops on the head, face and body.

Dane's Marvelous Career

The ex-lightweight champion was a marvelous man, and in keeping this last bit of earth on his pugilistic grace, it is but fair that his honest record should be shown up in the most favorable light possible. Some of Bac's performances during his earlier days, when he was alternating as dishwasher and a preliminary scraper, are a trifle obscure. One thing is sure, the boy was always out to win.

Nelson took part in something like 26 battles that were labelled "No decision" and "exhibition" bouts. He lost seven decisions, was "stopped" by Ad. Wolgast and knocked out by Owen Moran. On the winning side had 17 decisions and 27 knockouts to his credit.

He fought 15 draws. There is the world in black and white, of the determined Battler, who waded through 14 years of the hardest kind of fighting, hard, because he was usually forced to take a good beating before he had his man down to a point where he finally had to succumb before the Dane's stamina.

Still Wants to Fight

HOW MEDICAL STUDENTS ARE PROVIDED WITH CADAVERS

TWENTY-ONE HAVE BEEN FURNISHED TORONTO INSTITUTION THIS YEAR—ARE IN MAIN PAUPERS AND "UNKNOWN'S"

Toronto, Dec. 4.—The recent shipping of a human body to Montreal and the arrest of John McSorley, of Jarvis, on a charge of body-snatching has led to many inquiries as to the methods in vogue in supplying medical colleges with cadavers. An inquiry indicates that these schools are provided for in this respect by law, and that only through the official channels will a body be accepted by the authorities of these institutions.

The supply of bodies to schools of medicine in Ontario is regulated by the chief inspector of anatomy for the province. This office is now performed by the firm of A. Millard, undertakers, Yonge street, Toronto. Inspectors of anatomy are located in every country and city of Ontario. Harry R. Rankin, Queen street west, is inspector for all of Toronto except ward 7, where this office is performed by William Speers.

Mr. Rankin said that he supplied about twenty-one bodies to the Toronto Medical college this year and the same number in 1909. All unclaimed bodies at the morgue are turned over to him on order of the chief coroner within twenty-four hours after they are found. He then makes every possible inquiry for friends or relatives, and if $10 is found on the person or in the effects or the possessions realize that amount he has the body interred in Mount Pleasant cemetery. At the rate of $10 a body he makes no profit, for the grave alone costs $2. In these cases no special funeral is held, but the body is removed to the cemetery and buried on days that graves are being dug. In the summer bodies are kept from three to six days, and in winter as long as three months. Before the bodies are used at the school they are kept there from four to six months at least to await possible claimants.

Hard-Hearted Relatives.

Mr. Rankin told of several cases where he had sent to relatives in England for funds to pay for the burial of kinsmen who had died in this city. "In one case," he said, "the family of a young Englishman was quite willing to have his remains sent to the medical school rather than pay for a funeral. I wrote several times, but they were inflexible. In another instance near relatives of deceased answered the first inquiry in the case of a man found dead who had a few dollars remaining. They told me to remit to them the surplus money, and when I wrote to them asking for enough extra money to enable me to put the body in a $10 grave they did not answer me. I found out that the people in both these cases were fairly well circumstanced, too."

Mr. Rankin said that only a comparatively small number of the dead removed to the morgue was sent to the schools of medicine. The city relief officer attended to the burial of a large number, and those on whom post-mortems were held, as a rule, were not acceptable to the professor of anatomy.

Those whom the city buried resided in town at least a year and paid taxes, or had relatives here who were rate-payers.

This one Went to the School.
"How about the body of the man found hanging in High Park?"

"The Medical college got him."

Mr. Rankin said that all the unclaimed dead in the city were, as a rule, sent to the morgue, as well as those whom the chief coroner especially ordered there for the purpose of having an inquiry made into their death. Not many were supplied by the hospitals, for the majority of such cases were subjected to a rigid post-mortem. He thought that the Toronto General hospital had some arrangement with the College of Medicine whereby, when students were admitted to the autopsies, an allowance was made towards the cost. Autopsies on those persons who met death in accidents or whose suspected cases were usually performed at the morgue.

Little Profit for Inspector.

Mr. Rankin averred that the money paid for bodies by medical colleges barely defrayed expenses. About $10 each was all that could be obtained. Comparatively few of the bodies thus disposed of were of women. The bodies had to be preserved in good condition or the Medical college would not accept them.

Before the union of Trinity and the University of Toronto with their two medical faculties, Mr. Rankin found some difficulty in providing for the requirements of both to prevent disputes. He found it most satisfactory to give the bodies to the colleges alternately.

The bodies, he said, are received at on which a coroner deems an inquest unnecessary, or who before death were supported in and by a public institution, shall be placed under the control of an inspector of anatomy for the locality. The inspector, when twenty-four hours have elapsed and no relative or friend put in a claim for the body, is to deliver it to a recognized medical school, which shall keep it fourteen days before dissection in the event of a relative or a bona fide friend putting in a claim. The body is to be delivered to claimants by the school within two weeks of receipt on payment of costs not exceeding $10. Those Qualified to Receive Bodies. Persons qualified to receive bodies are teachers of anatomy or surgery in recognized medical schools. The schools receive the bodies in proportion to the number of students studying anatomy. Records of the names, description, clothes of the bodies sent to each medical school are kept by the inspector of anatomy.

The inspector is empowered to enable bodies, and he is empowered to inspect the registers of schools of medicine where anatomy is taught.

THE BULLETIN'S In its latest attack upon the men who supported the Rutherford government in its rail-sabotaging policy and who later voted against Premier Sifton for his failure to carry out that policy, the Edmonton Bulletin, the personal organ and mouthpiece of Frank Oliver, minister of the interior and representative in the Dominion house for Edmonton, stoops to tactics which would be beneath a ward heeler and which cannot be aligned in any way with common honesty.

The Bulletin represents that the men who favored a road to the north country did so to the exclusion of all other roads; that they stood in the way of the construction of a road to the Peace River.

The Bulletin says:

"It is not upon record that Mr. Carnwally or any other of the supporters of the A. and G. W. bargain urged upon the government which made that bargain the necessity of building a road into the Peace River country."

This statement, which appears as a part of an editorial directed against J. K. Cornwall and the members who supported the Rutherford government is a sample of the bald-faced prevarication which the Oliver organ is using against the late Rutherford government.

The statement is not only absolutely untrue, but the Bulletin knew it was untrue at the time it made the statement, and the proof that it is untrue is in the guarantee acts passed by the Alberta legislature, printed on the Bulletin press and on file in the Bulletin office.

The Bulletin knows that one of the guarantee acts passed by the Rutherford government called for the construction of a road from Edmonton to Fort Assiniboine, on the Athabasca, and the Bulletin knows that Ex-Premier Rutherford went on record at the time this act was before the house with the statement that the government was prepared, as soon as the first 50 miles was built, to guarantee the balance of the road to Grande Prairie.

The Bulletin says there was no bargain for the construction of a road into the Peace River country.

The Bulletin knows that there was not only a bargain, but that the bargain was made into an act, and that the Canadian Northern railway gave its promise to the Rutherford government that the road would be completed as far as Fort Assiniboine in 1910.

Furthermore, the Bulletin knows that had the Rutherford government not been upset by a plot in which it was a prime mover that the road to Fort Assiniboine would have been built this year—that ex-Premier Rutherford would have held the Canadian Northern to its agreement—and that the city of Edmonton would have been at least one year closer to having railway connection with the Peace River than it is today.

The Bulletin undertakes to represent that Premier Sifton is the man who is hastening the construction of roads into the Peace River country and other sections to the north-east and north-west, and that the members who supported the Rutherford administration and who voted against Premier Sifton in the last session are the men who are blocking the construction of these roads.

The Bulletin knows that this representation is not true. The Bulletin knows that Premier Sifton has had it within his power to compel the Canadian Northern to construct during the building season of 1910 not only the first section of the Peace River line, but also the 40 miles of road north of the Saskatchewan river toward Battleford, the 40 miles of the Vermilion-Bruderheim line, the 35 miles of the Strathcona-Camrose line and the remainder of the Athabasca Landing line, a total of 200 miles, promises to complete which are contained in letters from MacKenzie & Mann, to the Rutherford government before it went out of office, and now on file in the records of the department of the government over which Premier Sifton presides.

Furthermore, the Bulletin knows that not only did Premier Sifton not compel the construction of these roads, but that he paid out $2,070,000 of guarantee money to the Canadian Northern on the Vegreville-Calgary road, being the full amount of the guarantee of $14,000 per mile for 153 miles, and that that company is not yet giving a passenger service over this section of road.

The Bulletin knows that the interests of Edmonton have been made to suffer, that the construction of railways radiating from this city and guaranteed by the government has been stopped for a year, that the opening of the Peace River country has been delayed and the opening of the north country has been abandoned through the outcome of a conspiracy against the Rutherford government—a conspiracy in which the interests of the province were sacrificed to satisfy the personal spleen of the proprietor of the Bulletin.

RECIPROCITY Reciprocity with the United States is within THE HOPE OF measurable distance of accomplishment. Finance Minister Fielding and Minister of Customs Wm. Patterson go to Washington at the end of this week to return the visit of the United States representatives who visited Ottawa. If they arrive at an agreement the ratification by the Dominion government will be much of a formality as they go furnished with the views of the Dominion government and practically authorized to conclude a treaty.

From the western point of view it is said to be hoped that they will conclude an arrangement by which Canadian farm products, minerals, coal and fish can be shipped into United States untaxed and agricultural machinery from United States may be shipped into Canada duty free.

By the present tariff arrangement the Alberta farmer loses not only the advantages he would enjoy by access to the staple market of United States, but he loses the immense home market which would be developed in the Crows' Nest and the Kootenay if Canadian coal and Canadian lead were permitted to enter United States untaxed, and he loses another enormous and lucrative market which would at once be brought into existence by a proper development of the magnificent fishing resources of the northern lakes and the Pacific coast. Along with these deprivations, the western farmer is taxed to the extent of the tariff on every item of machinery he buys, whether manufactured at home or abroad and he receives no compensating advantage in a Canadian home market created by protection, freight to which would cost more than the market value of by-products which the western farmer has to sell.

FOR A SANER METHOD OF DIVORCE

A movement has been started in the province of Ontario for the establishment of a divorce court, and some leading legal luminaries go so far as to say that a divorce court should be established in every province in the Dominion.

No reasonable-minded person would object to saner methods of divorce in Canada. To those whose matrimonial relations are congenital the divorce court means nothing. So far as they are concerned it is the same as though it did not exist. But for those who do need the divorce it is a barbarous persecution to require them to go to Ottawa to be examined by a lot of graybeards of the senate, or—failing the price—go without.

The establishment of proper divorce courts would have the double advantage that it would leave the senate with absolutely no further excuse for existence and render it that much the easier to dispense with it altogether.

"How many acres of farming land have you?" he inquired, weakly.

"Bout twenty, I guess," said Reddy.

"Say, feller," said the farmer, "this ain't no rubber plantation."

GALICIA

Galicia, from which Canada has received so many immigrants in the past few years, is a country as large as Scotland, with a population one-third greater. There are 6,000,000 inhabitants, of whom perhaps rather more than half are Poles and rather less than half Ruthenians. In the western half of Galicia the Poles and in the eastern half the Ruthenians are the more numerous. The country is formed by the northern slopes of the Carpathian mountains and by the plains of the basins of the upper waters of the Dniester, the Bug and the Vistula. It is that part of the fringe of the plains of Poland and Russia that political events in the past, among which the partitions of Poland were the most important, gave to Austria.

"Assistant congressmen," one for each representative, would in theory be men of the grade of chief clerks, and would carry one or more stenographers. The representative would have an official establishment, very like that of the "assistant senators" now. From every Republican senator in chairman of a committee, with a chief or secretary, sometimes an assistant, treasurer, and always a messenger. The Democratic committee, however, has a large staff, one of whom is a secretary. All senators are relieved of much of the official drudgery, about which representatives complain.

THE BULLETIN SANDBAG

(Edmonton Bulletin)

Interviewed by the Winnipeg Free Press, Mr. J. K. Cornwall, M.P.P., for Peace River, declared his dissatisfaction with the railway policy of the provincial government, and lamented that the control of provincial affairs should have fallen into the hands of statements of the "particular type" of Alberta's ministers. The cause of his woes of course was that the contract with the defaulting Alberta and Great Waterways Company had been cancelled, as he had been "pressing upon the people of Alberta for years the need of a railway line to serve that district." That he had been equally anxious, or anxious to any degree, in pressing upon anybody the need of a railway line to serve the people in the Peace River district, he did not say. The burden of his complaint was that the government had decided to first supply railways to the districts in which there were people to be served by them before undertaking to build lines into the districts in which there are no people.

This brings out fairly clearly the distinction between the policy of the government and the policy of those who are opposed to them in railway matters. The government proposes that charity shall begin at home, that the people who go security for the money put into railways shall first have their own needs supplied before building roads into country where nobody lives. Their opponents hold that it is the business of the government to forthwith construct lines where there are no settlers—at least to build one such line. Whether they would be equally generous with other unoccupied parts of the country is not clear. The district which Mr. Cornwall represents in the house contains far more people than the country around Port McMurray. Yet it is not upon record that Mr. Cornwall or any other of the supporters of the A. & G. W. bargain urged upon the government which made the bargain the necessity of hastening a road into the Peace river country. This seems strange. The opposition railway policy seems to be limited. It would be held to apply only to the Fort McMurray line. Why the Peace river district should be ignored is not clear. In that country there are already hundreds of settlers whose only means of travel in winter is the trail, and in summer the steam boats on the Athabasca. Despite this handicap settlers are going into that district every year by the hundred. They simply cannot be kept out of it. But there was no bargain for the construction of a railroad into that country, and apparently not one "pressed" for such road. Why this discrimination? And why, when he saw the discrimination, did not the member for that constituency raise his voice in protest? Why did he not demand that the bargain made for a road to Port McMurray be duplicated by a bargain for a road to the Peace river? If roads should be built forthwith into unoccupied territory, surely they should be first built in the part of the unoccupied empire in which settlement has begun and where it is going on? Surely if the province was to be made liable for a road into a district where nobody lived it might be equal property to be made liable for a road into a district in which a great many people live.

The advocates of such an innovation believe the House of Representatives should consist of between 200 and 300 members, instead of 391 at present. They would therefore not only reduce the size of the House in its membership, but probably would go so far as to make the size of membership permanent. A law was enacted back in the fifties prescribing that the House should consist permanently of a given number of members—something like 250, but, of course, it could not be made binding upon subsequent Congresses, whenever they chose to enact new apportionment laws at the ten-year census period.

Probably, the "assistant congressmen" scheme will go no further than the agitation and discussion stage, although it is claimed to have much merit. It will be a surprise if the House votes to retain its present membership, let alone the matter of reducing that membership. The cry is always strong for more members.

The idea of a smaller House, however, would assist each state full representation as at present and much more orderly and thorough consideration of public business.

Assistant congressmen, one for each representative, would in theory be men of the grade of chief clerks, and would carry one or more stenographers. The representative would have an official establishment, very like that of the "assistant senators" now. From every Republican senator in chairman of a committee, with a chief or secretary, sometimes an assistant, treasurer, and always a messenger. The Democratic committee, however, has a large staff, one of whom is a secretary. All senators are relieved of much of the official drudgery, about which representatives complain.

POULTRY SHOW JUDGES HAVE COMPLETED THEIR LABORS

ANNUAL MEETING OF ASSOCIATION WILL BE HELD THIS EVENING—EXHIBITION HAS BEEN A COMPLETE SUCCESS—THE PRIZE WINNERS

Judging at the Poultry and Pekin Stock show was brought practically to a conclusion this morning. The final awards will be made this afternoon, when the exhibition will close.

The eighth annual show of the Town City Poultry and Pekin Stock Association has marked an epoch in the development of the poultry industry of the northern portion of the province. With double the number of entries as any previous exhibition, and a marked improvement in the quality of the stock, the Edmonton show has been brought into line with many of the best fair eastern cities can produce. In a land where every branch of the farming industry is virtually in the pioneer stage, the highest grades of poultry have been produced, and the quality of the exhibits is uniformly the best.

Tonight the annual meeting of the association will be held in the council chamber this evening. The prizes awarded yesterday afternoon and this morning are as follows:

WORK ON THE HIGH LEVEL PROGRESSING

pier on the Strathcona side is down to a depth of 55 feet. The remaining 5 feet will be completed to-day or tomorrow. This afternoon the installation of machinery on the Strathcona side will commence. Boilers will be installed for the purpose of providing energy to drive the mixing machinery. The installation will be completed in a couple of weeks, when the filling in of the Strathcona pier will be begun. In a couple of weeks, with good fortune, the concrete will be brought to the ground level.

Excavation on the north river pier has been commenced, and it is anticipated that three weeks will be required to remove thousands of tons of earth which had to be replaced by the concrete foundations. When the excavation had been carried to a depth of 75 feet, a small leak in the cofferdam occurred. This was repaired to-day, and from present appearances there is no danger of further trouble at this point. Yesterday also a start was made on the excavation of the south river pier.

The river piers will form the most massive features of the imposing structure which will span the Saskatchewan River at a height of 125 feet. At the base they will be 40 by 35 feet, and will decrease in size as they taper upwards. The piers on the north and south banks of the river will be 60 by 60 feet at the base.

Over 150 men are now constantly employed upon the construction. Six hundred yards of gravel a day are hauled from a private five miles up the river by the old gold dredge. The number of teams engaged on the work varies from 40 to 100.

Duncan Turner took out a permit from the building inspector's office this morning for the construction of a $2,800 residence on the east side of Sixteenth street, between Jasper and Athlone. The building will be located on lot 92, block 15, Hudson Bay reserve.

WARM GULF STREAM HAS BEEN FOUND

Believed That It Will Mean the Opening of Trade Routes to Siberian Rivers

Berlin, Jan. 5.—A Russian exploring expedition in the Arctic sea, off the coast of Siberia, under the geologist M. Rusinoff has discovered a warm Gulf Stream, which passes around the north of Nova Zembla, but not through the narrow straits of the Kara Sea to the south of that land where all previous explorers, including Nansen, have hitherto sought it, and where British navigators like the late Captain Wiggin always met with so much peril from the ice in trying to keep the open sea route to Siberia. The conclusion is therefore arrived at that the future maritime trading route to the mouth of the great Siberian rivers will be via the open sea passage rounding Nova Zembla.

The Russians in advocating the utilization of this discovery point out that the Germans have already solicited concessions from the Russian government to enable them to revive the trade which was long ago discontinued in these northern parts by British navigators and merchants.

No action has yet been taken by the attorney general department in connection with the jury's verdict in connection with the death of Jas. SUIT AGAINST SHELDON Get Rich Quick Artist Will Appear in Court When Police Locate Him.

Montreal, Jan. 5.—Suit has been entered against C. D. Sheldon, in the superior court by Messrs. Garand and company. The amount named in the writ against the missing stock broker is $1,370, representing collateral securities which Sheldon handed to his banks shortly before his disappearance.

THE EDMONTON CAPITAL

TRIBUTE TO CHAMBERLAIN.

London (C.A.P.) Jan. 5.—A striking tribute to Joseph Chamberlain as an empire builder was paid by Lord Strathcona at Birmingham yesterday when he said that Birmingham people must be very proud to have among them one who has done more to consolidate the dominions across the seas than any other man in Great Britain or the Empire.

WHAT DO VARSITY STUDENTS SPEND?

Question Which Is Occupying Attention of Citizens of University City

Strathcona, Jan. 5.—What does the average university student spend during the term, in the city which has the good fortune to be the home of the institution? This is a question which good citizens of Strathcona have asked themselves more than once since the provincial university was established here, in an endeavor to determine what direct monetary benefit is derived by the municipality with the educational distinction acquired. Among the wealthy universities of the east, where rich men's sons are plentifully sprinkled within the student ranks the average is rather astoundingly high to a westerner, but the University of Alberta does not at the present figure in this class. At the same time however, the benefit appears to be alluring to other cities as witness Calgary making a titanic effort to land one of these prized institutions failing to get the provincial educational fountain head. It is interesting to get opinions from the Alberta student body on this matter and in the recent issue of the "Gateway," the excellently edited University monthly, the following from the editor's column puts the whole matter in candidly clear fashion. The article reads:

"There is cause for congratulation in the way in which the bill to incorporate the second University in this province has been treated. The most enthusiastic advocate of higher education would scarcely have the hardihood to affirm that Alberta has at the present time any need whatever for a second university. Indeed we have not noticed that the promoters of the proposed institution made any claim that it was in any sense a necessity. Some frenzied financier computed that students are worth $100 per annum to the city in which they take their course. That gentleman would be a very desirable banker for the average student. At the University of Alberta the greater number of students do not spend $100 or even $50 per year; indeed there are more men who fall below the $50 mark than above the $50.

"Of course it is conceivable that some citizens of Calgary animated by a sort of "two-by-four" patriotism and devotion to the interests of their own city, to say nothing of an interest in the price of real estate, are anxious to establish a university in their midst. But one city cannot support a university worthy of the name and when the province as a whole is already pledged to sustain in an adequate way the provincial institution already in operation why seek to hamper its efforts by attempting to found a rival, doubling the expense to the country and hindering the cause of higher education for years to come. One university is enough for Alberta and our legislators were wise in refusing to charter a second."

POLICE COMPLETE LIVE STOCK CENSUS

Population of Horses and Cattle Shows Large Gain During Past Year

Strathcona, Jan. 5.—The city police have just completed a most unusual task, that of taking a census of the live stock within the corporation limits. The department of agriculture recently requested the council to have a census of this nature secured if possible and once the matter was turned over to Police Chief Robinson the difficult task was soon under way. Yesterday the last figures were obtained and the population of horses and cattle was found to be far beyond expectation. The total number of horses reaches close to seven hundred which allows one for every eight or nine citizens in the city. The number of cattle is two hundred below these figures but at five hundred the total seems very high for a city of this size. The large number of families who keep a cow for their own use adds extensively to this aggregate. Only one hundred and thirty-five hogs and a like number of sheep are on the new registration books. The famous mule family has two lone representatives and there are only two goats which allowed themselves to be counted. The total number of live stock listed of about 1400 head would be very respectably sized ranch. No estimates were attempted of the dogs but the figures would probably be somewhat short of one million.

Tax Payments Increased.

The tax collector's department in the city hall had a busy day last week due to citizens practising early hour economy to escape the five per cent penalty added with the beginning of the new year to over due taxes. There was no appreciable clearance apparently of the bulk of time-worn arrears but on the whole the payments were very satisfactory and the assessor announces that more tax receipts were issued by January 1st this year than were given out by April of last year. While the total payments made have not yet been computed by the assessor it is taken from the number of receipts issued that the citizens settled up far more promptly for the last tax notices than they did twelve months ago. From the large amount of arrears now on the books it would appear that a tax sale of property will have to be made within the next year or two, although this has never before been done in the city.

New Mission Hall Opens.

Hill Park across Mill Creek is an attractive sub-division which is steadily coming into a position of importance to the city. It has been growing steadily during the last year. Painters' Banquet.

The Master Painter's association of Strathcona and Edmonton partook of a very enjoyable banquet in the Iroquois Hotel last evening. HEAVY TRANSFER IN SUBURBAN LAND

Houston Property, West of the City Limits, Changes Hands for $80,000

Another heavy turn in suburban property was consummated when York & MacNauman, acting for a local syndicate, the personnel of which is not given, concluded a deal for the purchase of sec. 10, 25, R. 3, known as the Houston property for $80,000.

The property in question, which is a full two acres in extent, adjoins the Bremer subdivision on the west and is also contiguous to Dominion Park, which was originally platted on the market in five-acre blocks.

It is the intention of the purchasers to hold the property for some time, possibly offering a part of it for sale sometime next winter.

The deal is along the lines of recent advances in property to the west of the city, a development which has followed the announcement of the location of the government house.

PROGRESSIVE NELSON.

The Nelson News on January third issued a special number of 28 pages dealing with the development of the mining industry in the district in particular and the entire District in brief. The growth of the fruit, manufacturing and other industries in and around the city are also exhaustively dealt with. The News says Nelson as the Denver of British Columbia and if publicity is any criterion appears to have caught the boosting fever, which prevades the atmosphere of the Colorado Metropolis. The News' special is a great credit to this thriving little city of the Kootenay.

AT THE EMPIRE

Starting tonight, and continuing Thursday, Friday, Saturday matinee and Saturday night, the farewell play of the Partello Co. will be presented. In presenting "A Royal Prisoner" as the farewell play, this sterling company is presenting one of the greatest Russian romantic comedy-dramas ever offered to the theatre-going public. "A Royal Prisoner," has been and is at the present time, the star-charging vehicle of True S. James, one of America's foremost actors, and from the time that he first used it, has been a huge success. Miss Alice Kennedy, as the Empress, has appeared in all of the larger cities of the United States, and Canada, and has been heralded as the best empress ever seen in the play. Jack Westerman as "The Royal Prisoner" will be seen in a part that has been his pet part since his theatrical career, and considering the many good parts that he has appeared in, this one particular part certainly must be good. The management of the Partello Company extends the heartiest thanks to their patrons, for their patronage during their stay in Edmonton, and hope that they will not be forgotten on the return engagement, which will be soon.

LIGHT LINES DOWN

Since the beginning of the week, officials of the electric light department have been working night and day to carry out the repairs which have been made necessary by the effects of the windstorms of the past few days.

Last evening many of the arc lamps on the streets of the city were put out of commission by the hurricane and the streets were plunged in total darkness, as it was found necessary to cut off the arc lamp service. It is expected that the repairs will be complete this evening.

WORKMEN WRATHY

Conductors Were Not Carrying Blue Tickets and Purchasers Had to Buy Reds.

Workmen travelling by Jasper Avenue, Nanaimo and Jasper Avenue, and Syndicate cars last evening between 6 and 7 o'clock were unable to obtain the special eight for a quarter ticket which are issued for use between these hours. They were informed by the conductors that the supply had run out.

This morning the Capital was informed by the car line officials that the supply at headquarters is not sufficient. If the conductors had run short of yellow tickets, it was entirely their own lookout. The tickets are purchased by them from the department, and they base their purchases on the estimated day's needs.

DENOMINATIONAL

The Highland Park United Mission hall will be opened next Sunday at 3 p.m. Services will be conducted by pastors of the Strathcona churches.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Presbyterian church met yesterday afternoon and received reports of the work now being carried on in foreign fields.

Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, will return from Oids this afternoon and will take into consideration the programme of the publicity department for the coming year, and will also possibly have some further announcement to make regarding the short course in dairying which is to be opened about the first of February at Innisfail.

between the regular meetings of the vice board of governors.

A resolution of sympathy with Professor MacEachern in his illness was passed, and the executive was authorized to make any arrangements necessary to carry on the work of the department of philosophy until his recovery.

At the conclusion of the business of the afternoon the board adjourned to meet again at the call of the chair. The members, together with the Prime Minister and the Minister of Education, were afterward entertained at dinner by President and Mrs. Torry.

The commissioners will recommend to the council that the International Heating and Lighting company will be required to place to the credit of the city the sum of $500 deposited by them in the Merchants bank, as a guarantee of the payment of any expenses which may be incurred by the city while negotiations are under way.

Endorsement of the Canadian May Outway's system of automatic fire alarms was contained in a letter from the Western Canada Fire Underwriters association. The company stated that where this system is installed they will make a reduction of 10 per cent net in their insurance rates on buildings, this to apply to the contents of the building also.

The old request of the post office department of the Dominion that the city carry its mail servants on the street car system free, was again on the tapis at yesterday's meeting. Com. Bouillon scored the department, explaining that it was strictly up to the post office department itself to pay for its own servant's transportation.

The question of giving extra pay for work done under extraordinary circumstances, such as prevailed during the stormy days of the past week, for instance, was raised, and a conference will be held with the heads of the telephone, street railway, waterworks and electric light departments, for discussion of the question.

Proposed subscribers wishing to be listed in this directory or present subscribers who intend making any change in name or address should notify the city telephone office at once. Additions or changes will not be accepted after the 20th of this month. The new directory will be out February 1st.
